

Questions and Answers
Opportunities for Learning William S. Hart RFP #312: College and Career Readiness
Updated 4/28/20

Q: Will OFL/OFY consider appropriately credentialed virtual instructors, or is onsite a mandatory requirement?

A: Yes, we would definitely consider virtual instructors.

Q: Is the School interested in vendors who can provide access to core curriculum in addition to CTE? If not, who is the current provider of your core curriculum?

A: We do not need core curriculum at this time, but are open to all curriculum options in addition to CTE. Our current providers are Edmentum and SkyRocket.

Q: Does the School intend to use teachers provided by the School / organization or should proposals include access to content plus vendor teaching services? If teaching services are requested, is it acceptable to provide these fully online with in-person staff provided by the School?

A: Please include access to content plus vendor teaching services, if available. It is acceptable to provide instruction fully online; the school may be able to provide on-site instruction.

Q: There are multiple RFPs available across the Charter Schools (both Opportunities for Learning-OFL and Options for Youth-OFY) for substantially similar services. If the product we are proposing is the same, is there an option to submit one response covering multiple Schools / programs?

A: All submissions should be submitted by Charter/school, but pricing may be scaled for the network of schools.

Q: Would you please provide the enrollment of each Learning Center expected to use the requested curriculum?

A: Each learning center will have about 5 to 10 students enrolled in CTE per semester.

Q: Does the School currently use CTE curriculum provided by either of the core curriculum vendors? If so, what are the deficiencies in the current curriculum that you are looking to address via this RFP?

A: Yes, the schools use some CTE curriculum provided by the core curriculum vendors. We are looking to increase the variety of CTE courses that result in an industry recognized certificate.

Q: Several of the high-demand areas listed on page 21 require offline/hands-on components (i.e. Health Sciences/Nursing, Building & Construction, etc.). Is the awarded vendor expected to coordinate required onsite experiences for students?

A: We are open to all instructional options available for hands-on components.

Q: The Scope of Work references that curriculum should be aligned to California CTE model curriculum standards. Do vendors need to submit evidence of alignment with RFP submission?

A: Proposers are not required to submit evidence that their curriculum is aligned to California CTE model curriculum standards. If you have evidence that your curriculum is aligned to California CTE model standards and feel this evidence will strengthen your proposal, you are welcome to include the evidence.